Aim of Marion Organization Is To Mold Character of City's Boys.

COMMUNITY FUND AGENCY

Board Cuts Budget for Next Year To Increase Money for Relief.

To thoroughly explain to the public what Community Fund agencies are accomplishing, The Star, in this and other articles, is giving a detailed review of the work of each agency during the last year as the fund prepares to launch its third annual drive for $73,597. In the following paragraphs, activities of the Y. M. C. A., a character building unit which last year reached 2,917 persons, are detailed.

The Y. M. C. A., the most extensive character building agency of the Community Fund, feels that its charge is to mold the boyhood of today into the citizenship of tomorrow. To supplement the lives of boys and young men, girls and young women with instruction and guidance in mental, physical, social and spiritual ways, with the primary objective of building a Christian character, training good citizens, and promoting the Christian way of life, is the aim of the "Y."

2,917 Participate

The Y. M. C. A., headed by Secretary E. N. Hale, is composed of 127 units with an aggregate membership of 2,917 persons. The local organization is part of a worldwide, non-sectarian organization. Work of the local organization is done by 99 committees with a total of 534 members.

The Y. M. C. A. leans heavily on the Community Fund for financial support because only 902 of its 2,917 members pay fees of any kind toward its support.

A brief survey of the activities of the Y show that in the last year 370 educational meetings were held with 9,550 attending; 292 social events were conducted with 6,462 present; 538 religious meetings were held with 7,314 participating; 730 department classes were held with 22,169 attending; 10 camp periods at Camp Robert Uhler near Heppburn were conducted with 269 persons benefiting; nine athletic leagues were sponsored reaching 1,177 players; two playgrounds used by 310 boys were supervised; 912 interviews on personal problems were conducted; 35 positions for young men and women were obtained; 158 were given free lodging.

Half Dozen Jobs Laid to Robinson After Capture in Cheney Grocery.

Belief of the police that Richard Robinson, alias Richard Roberts, 20, held to the grand jury Wednesday on a burglary charge, had been connected either directly or indirectly with the series of burglaries in the city in the last several weeks, was confirmed yesterday when, according to Police Chief William E. Marks, he admitted committing six burglaries since May 1.

Admits Guilt

At first he denied being involved in any of the burglaries with the exception of the Cheney grocery on Columbia street where he was captured, but later admitted he had broken into six places, including the Cheney store.

With the exception of the Murphy confectionery at west Center and Davis street where he obtained about $32 on May 13, Robinson's efforts brought him little reward, the entire amount he obtained not exceeding $40.

On May 9, he told Chief Marks, he broke into the C. D. & M. ticket office and the cigar stand owned by Nellie Winter in the same building where he obtained a fountain pen and a few dollars in change. On May 10 he entered the office of the Superior filling station where he obtained little as a reward. On May 13 he committed the series of burglaries in the Miller market, the Murphy confectionery and the office of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. A few dollars in pennies was obtained at the market, about $32 at the confectionery and but 12 cents at the gas office.

Caught on May 19

On May 17, he said, he entered the Longshore grocery where $7 was taken from the cash register. On May 19 he was captured while burglarizing the Cheney grocery on west Columbia street.

That he came here from Ostrander, Delaware county, and had been making his home on west Center street was the extent of the information concerning his past life obtained by the police. He is being held in the county jail under $2,000 bond.

David H. Clark Named as Man Seen at "Death Conference."

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 22—David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney, was held today on a charge of slaying Herbert Spencer, magazine editor, and Charles Crawford, wealthy politician, who were shot to death in Crawford's office Wednesday.

Clark surrendered last night to Buron Fitts, district attorney, who said his former aid had been identified by employees of Crawford, a real estate dealer, as the man who was in conference with the victims just before they fell mortally wounded by revolver fire.

Officers questioned Clark more than an hour about details of the shooting before he was sent to jail. Fitts said he had refused to make a statement.

Shortly after being named in a statement by Fitts as the man wanted for the slayings, Clark telephoned the district attorney last night that he was about to surrender. Alone he drove to the prosecutor's office, ran a gauntlet of cameramen and reporters and disappeared behind the swinging doors of Fitts' chambers.

Murder Charge Filed

A murder charge was filed against Clark after he had been identified by three persons as the man who ran from Crawford's office after the shooting.

Clark's recent unsuccessful candidacy for a Los Angeles municipal judgeship had been opposed by Crawford and Spencer. Fitts said he recently had requested Clark's resignation as deputy prosecutor.

The district attorney said he had evidence that Clark purchased a .38 caliber pistol Tuesday. Police asserted .38 caliber bullets had killed Spencer, former police reporter and alleged "fixer" for persons accused of minor offenses, and Crawford, presumably retired political "boss."

The killing at first was attributed to gambling interests which had been attacked in the magazine.

U. S. Steel Head Charges Big Standard Companies Reduce Scale.

SCHWAB'S VIEW DIFFERS

Maintains Standard Is Kept Up Despite Unfavorable Situation.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 22—James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, faced fellow executives of the steel industry today and charged that "the big standard companies" are not maintaining wage scales.

"I think," he said, "it's a pretty cheap sort of business."

"You say wages have been stabilized in the steel industry," Mr. Farrell said. "They have not. We are living in a fool's paradise. Honeycombing and pinching of all sorts of things have gone on. The so-called big standard companies, the companies in the headlines, are not maintaining their standard of wages. It's a shame that when some of the large companies are trying to maintain wages others are cutting them even when they are affording only three-day-a-week employment."

"I am not going to give the names of all the companies represented in this room that have cut wages, because I don't want to embarrass you, but I think it's a pretty cheap sort of business."

Mr. Farrell's remarks were in marked contrast to those of Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel corporation and president of the American Iron and Steel institute, who presided at its semi-annual meeting, here today and who said "we have had a stabilized wage rate since 1923."

Mr. Schwab's comment upon Farrell's remarks was:

"I really discover no difference between my views and Mr. Farrell's, and I heartily endorse all he said."

Schwab's Disclosures

Schwab told the institute that there was reason to believe liquidation was about over.

"There has been so much talk about the future that we have lost sight of the extent to which the deflation has gone," he said, pointing to the long decline in commodity, security, wholesale and retail prices.

"There are many signs of stirring in our economic life. The very fact that we have faced this situation and adjusted ourselves to it is a preliminary to the better times, to the favorable upward reaction. We want to keep pulling for the shore. We must not lose headway by resting on our oars, but we can be cheered by the knowledge that the tide is coming in."

One of the most encouraging facts, he said, is that the country had met this depression "with much less fear, less distress and with much more organized intelligence than in any previous period of hard times."

Signs of Improvement

"I am unable to predict that any particular circumstance is going to bring about the return to good business. In fact, I believe that specific causes are often over-emphasized. After a period of undue deflation we are ready for normal business again, and that return is manifested in a number of ways, some of which catch the public's attention and come to be considered as the major cause."

The steel industry, which has maintained its wage scale although working hours have been shortened, is operating at the rate of

3 MORE CONVICTS ACCUSED IN FIRE

Witness in Grate Trial Says Trio Ordered Him To "Keep Quiet."

COLUMBUS, O., May 22—Three additional convicts at Ohio penitentiary were linked with the starting of the fire on Easter Monday, 1930, in which 320 convicts perished, in the testimony today of James Maloney, Cincinnati robber, in the first degree murder trial of Clinton Grate, Dayton robber.

Maloney, a state witness against Grate, who is accused of starting the conflagration, testified on cross-examination that three other convicts, "Dutch" Kraussman, Cleveland robber; Sam Briggs and James Raymond of Akron, were implicated in the escape plot which was to follow the fire.

Raymond hanged himself in a cell block several months after the fire. Maloney said the other three had ordered him to "keep quiet." When asked by the defense why he failed to name the other three convicts on direct examination, Maloney said he thought he was to testify only regarding Grate and Hugh Gibson, alias Gibbons of Cleveland, the two charged with the crime.

David Montgomery, Youngstown convict, said he saw Grate carrying a can of raw oil some time before the fire. He testified that Grate told him "get ready to leave tonight" when they were returning from supper.

Maloney said his knowledge of the disaster had placed his life in jeopardy behind the prison walls. Grate, he said, shadowed him constantly and once attempted to stab him.

LOS ANGELES LAWYER IN JAIL

Former Deputy District Attorney Accused in Double Murder.

IDENTIFIED BY WITNESSES

David H. Clark Named as Man Seen at "Death Conference."

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 22—David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney, was held today on a charge of slaying Herbert Spencer, magazine editor, and Charles Crawford, wealthy politician, who were shot to death in Crawford's office Wednesday.

Clark surrendered last night to Buron Fitts, district attorney, who said his former aid had been identified by employees of Crawford, a real estate dealer, as the man who was in conference with the victims just before they fell mortally wounded by revolver fire.

Officers questioned Clark more than an hour about details of the shooting before he was sent to jail. Fitts said he had refused to make a statement.

Shortly after being named in a statement by Fitts as the man wanted for the slayings, Clark telephoned the district attorney last night that he was about to surrender. Alone he drove to the prosecutor's office, ran a gauntlet of cameramen and reporters and disappeared behind the swinging doors of Fitts' chambers.

Murder Charge Filed

A murder charge was filed against Clark after he had been identified by three persons as the man who ran from Crawford's office after the shooting.

Clark's recent unsuccessful candidacy for a Los Angeles municipal judgeship had been opposed by Crawford and Spencer. Fitts said he recently had requested Clark's resignation as deputy prosecutor.

The district attorney said he had evidence that Clark purchased a .38 caliber pistol Tuesday. Police asserted .38 caliber bullets had killed Spencer, former police reporter and alleged "fixer" for persons accused of minor offenses, and Crawford, presumably retired political "boss."

The killing at first was attributed to gambling interests which had been attacked in the magazine.

YOUTH ADMITS SERIES OF SIX THEFTS HERE

Police Clear Up Recent Burglaries Here When Prisoner Confesses Guilt.

BOUND TO GRAND JURY

Half Dozen Jobs Laid to Robinson After Capture in Cheney Grocery.

Belief of the police that Richard Robinson, alias Richard Roberts, 20, held to the grand jury Wednesday on a burglary charge, had been connected either directly or indirectly with the series of burglaries in the city in the last several weeks, was confirmed yesterday when, according to Police Chief William E. Marks, he admitted committing six burglaries since May 1.

Admits Guilt

At first he denied being involved in any of the burglaries with the exception of the Cheney grocery on Columbia street where he was captured, but later admitted he had broken into six places, including the Cheney store.

With the exception of the Murphy confectionery at west Center and Davis street where he obtained about $32 on May 13, Robinson's efforts brought him little reward, the entire amount he obtained not exceeding $40.

On May 9, he told Chief Marks, he broke into the C. D. & M. ticket office and the cigar stand owned by Nellie Winter in the same building where he obtained a fountain pen and a few dollars in change. On May 10 he entered the office of the Superior filling station where he obtained little as a reward. On May 13 he committed the series of burglaries in the Miller market, the Murphy confectionery and the office of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. A few dollars in pennies was obtained at the market, about $32 at the confectionery and but 12 cents at the gas office.

3 MORE CONVICTS ACCUSED IN FIRE

Witness in Grate Trial Says Trio Ordered Him To "Keep Quiet."

COLUMBUS, O., May 22—Three additional convicts at Ohio penitentiary were linked with the starting of the fire on Easter Monday, 1930, in which 320 convicts perished, in the testimony today of James Maloney, Cincinnati robber, in the first degree murder trial of Clinton Grate, Dayton robber.

Maloney, a state witness against Grate, who is accused of starting the conflagration, testified on cross-examination that three other convicts, "Dutch" Kraussman, Cleveland robber; Sam Briggs and James Raymond of Akron, were implicated in the escape plot which was to follow the fire.

Raymond hanged himself in a cell block several months after the fire. Maloney said the other three had ordered him to "keep quiet." When asked by the defense why he failed to name the other three convicts on direct examination, Maloney said he thought he was to testify only regarding Grate and Hugh Gibson, alias Gibbons of Cleveland, the two charged with the crime.

David Montgomery, Youngstown convict, said he saw Grate carrying a can of raw oil some time before the fire. He testified that Grate told him "get ready to leave tonight" when they were returning from supper.

Maloney said his knowledge of the disaster had placed his life in jeopardy behind the prison walls. Grate, he said, shadowed him constantly and once attempted to stab him.

PAINEVILLE, O., May 22—John Kamenyzer, 69-year-old factory worker, was forced out of his life savings yesterday by two unidentified men who demanded that Kamenyzer get up $5,000 bond in order to qualify as "partner" in business at Painesville.

state. Social rooms of the building are open from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. on week days, and are open on Sunday afternoons.

Not all Y. M. C. A. work is conducted at this building, however. In addition to the camp work on the outside, the Y sponsors play ground work and extension work for students in outlying schools. Greenwood and Silver street schools have been organized for regular class meetings at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. gymnasium, reaching several hundred boys.

Roger Babson, noted statistician, says the following about the Y. M. C. A.: "There is more real wealth in a single Y. M. C. A. building than in the biggest factory ever built. One boy gone wrong may cost the city as much as it lives 10 times as much as a city Y. M. C. A. budget for one year. A city's richest asset, greatest problem, sternest peril, weightiest force, costliest offender, strongest defender and highest hope is its boys and young men."

The Y. M. C. A. this year voluntarily reduced its budget in the Community Fund to make a greater amount of money available for emergency relief work. Last year the Y received $22,500. To finance its work during the next 12 months, the Y is asking $18,990 in the total budget of $73,397.

works you should read, doesn't think anybody is living on the planets that accompany us through space with the sun. He thinks life is scarce anywhere in the universe. It is some comfort to know that there can't be any depression on Mars, Venus, Mercury, Jupiter, Saturn, Neptune or little Eros, since it takes foolish human beings to make a slump.

But science, in the near future, should be able to prove that there is consciousness, life, thought, purpose in millions of other planets, perhaps on the sun itself. We can't imagine life at a temperature of 50,000,000 degrees centigrade, which is the temperature of the sun's interior.

On the other hand, a cold, white maggot could not imagine life in the highly heated body of a bounding lion. It would say: "Wait till that thing dies, grows cold and we inhabit it. Then it will have life."

PLUNGE IS FATAL TO PASSENGER OF PLANE

Mystery Surrounds Fall of Youngstown Salesman at Niles, Ohio.

By The Associated Press
YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 21.—A 700-foot plunge from an open cockpit airplane caused the death of Daniel Mills, 28-year-old amateur pilot, and Youngstown tire salesman, under circumstances which remained a mystery today.

Two witnesses said Mills apparently jumped from the ship, but his widow and a brother, David, of Cleveland, said they knew of no reason for suicide and believed it was an accident.

The fall occurred as Mills was being flown back to Youngstown late yesterday after inspecting a ship in Cleveland. Pilot William Jones said they were near Niles, north of here, when the plane suddenly lurched. He glanced behind and saw his passenger was missing. Jones was sure Mills was still wearing a safety belt when they left Parkman, 20 miles from here, after a brief stop, and said he did not believe the fall was accidental.

David Mills suggested that his brother, who suffered from a bad heart, might have raised himself to catch his breath and was swept overboard by the propeller blast. Jones agreed this was plausible. Officials declined to comment in advance of a coroner's inquest at Warren today.

Jones had a difficult time righting his plane after the lurch when Mills fell and narrowly averted crashing, he said. He circled over the place and obtained the help of another Youngstown pilot and of officials to find the body.

about 30,000,000 tons in the first half of 1931, Mr. Schwab said. This is less than half of total capacity of 67,000,000 tons, "but a good deal more than 50 percent of a normal operating basis."

"There may be some further slowing down during the summer, as has been the case in former years, but we have been holding up better than many have predicted. Maintenance requirements under normal conditions, Mr. Schwab pointed out, are 51,000,000 tons of steel annually in this country, and the reason for the present slump below this level is because needs cannot be predicted from day to day.

Fear of wage cuts is one of the current difficulties, and instability of prices is another, in Mr. Schwab's opinion. Labor costs in the steel industry, he asserted, had been liquidated "without taking it out of the wage rate of the mill employee."

"Preservation of this wage rate, the protection of the worker's payroll, is a primary obligation of our business. All policies, of course, depend ultimately on the balance sheet. No man can guarantee the future of markets, wages, earnings or other factors affecting income. But I do say that we have every intention of maintaining this stable wage rate which has been so great an asset in our business. . . . Our men have stuck by us through thick and thin, and we are going to stick by them."

The steel industry has given the worker "full-time income when doing full-time work, but with curtailed markets and lower production it has been necessary to distribute the available work." There has been a gross average decline of close to 25 percent in the earnings of steel employees this spring as compared with a year ago when operations were high, but losses through part-time employment, Mr. Schwab said, have been offset at least partially by a lower cost of living.

"That I believe to be a, very strong note of improvement in the general situation," he added.

"Critic of Critics," of which Spencer was managing editor and Crawford a patron.

No Response to Questions
To all questions as to whether he committed the murders, or was in Crawford's office, Clark refused to comment.

"Will you say you did not kill them?" Flits pressed.
"I don't want to say anything now," Clark replied.
The same answer accompanied a query as to why Clark had bought a revolver.

These developments at least temporarily displaced theories that Spencer and Crawford were gangland victims.

Clark, a boyish-looking lawyer, just before his resignation in February after eight years of service in the district attorney's office, prosecuted grand theft charges on which Daisy Robbe, former secretary of Clara Bow, was convicted and sentenced to 18 months in jail. He is a graduate of the University of Southern California and the U. S. Naval academy.

THREE PERSONS DEAD IN CROSSING CRASH

One Other Injured as Big Four at London, O.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, O., May 22.—Three persons were dead and an 11-month-old baby was in serious condition in a Columbus hospital today as a result of an automobile-train collision at the west High street crossing of the Big Four railroad here last night.

The dead: Mrs. Ralph Bennett, 27, of Denver, Colo.; Beverly Bennett, three-year-old daughter of Mrs. Bennett; Miss Mary Kelley, 38, of Memphis, Tenn.; 11-month-old, was rushed to a Columbus hospital suffering from body bruises and shock. Physicians said she would recover.

The Bennett family and Miss Kelley were going to Columbus from Kansas City, Mo. They were to visit Mrs. Bennett's mother, Mrs. A. J. Frick, who was playing in Columbus with a show.

Ralph Bennett, husband of Mrs. Bennett, was notified of the accident at a Louisville, Ky. hotel where he was playing with his orchestra, "The Seven Aces," which had become prominent in radio broadcasts from Fort Worth and Denver during the past winter.

Bennett immediately left for Columbus to claim the bodies and to watch over his daughter.

A Big Four passenger train derailed the small sedan in which the women were riding.

NO FORMAL REQUEST YET FOR RATE BOOST

Railroads Delay Submission to I. C. C. of Proposal to Raise Carrying Charges.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, May 22.—Despite the decision of eastern railroads to seek modification of the Interstate commerce commission's consolidation plan and the more recent proposals of nearly all carriers to ask rate readjustments, the commission has received no formal notification of either project.

President Hoover announced in December that negotiations undertaken at his suggestion had brought agreement between the four major eastern roads, exclusive of New England, to submit revised plans to the commission which would facilitate consolidations.

It was said today, however, no indication had been given as to when this plan would be presented or whether the carriers had been able to work out the minor, but troublesome, details which were incomplete at the time of the White House announcement.

In the meantime, the carriers have announced a determination to ask rate adjustments to produce $400,000,000 more annual revenue. While these are expected to include mostly competition with buses, pipe lines and waterways, adjustments downward are planned in some instances to meet this competition.

Opposition in the senate to the proposed increased rates already has developed on the ground that they would be unjustified at this time. On the other hand, "Labor," official publication of organized railway workers, has taken the position that the greater revenue accruing would speed business recovery.

State Fruit Also Used as Ammunition at O. S. U.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., May 22.—A group of freshmen and sophomore students at Ohio State university engaged in a melee last night that ended only after a score of bystanders, parked automobiles and numerous residences had been smeared with eggs and overripe oranges.

The clash occurred as the freshmen were preparing for the annual freshman cap burning signifying the close of their first year at the university. They were pelted with eggs and oranges while approaching a fraternity house but returned the "fire" with similar "ammunition" which they carried as a precaution against the sophomore attack.

No one was hurt, but several students were stripped of their clothing and pedestrians ran for safety as the eggs and oranges splattered in all directions.

50 YEARS OF SERVICE ENDED BY RED CROSS

Hoover Takes Part in Celebration of First Half Century of Work.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, May 22.—After 50 years of labor on battle field, among earthquake debris, through fire and flood and famine, the American Red Cross took time off last night to celebrate its golden jubilee.

President Hoover cut the first slice of an enormous white-iced birthday cake, topped with a Red Cross mad 50 gleaming candles.

Never before had the organization appeared before the American public in festive mood, yet its pageantry was as effective as its appeals for the suffering.

A Red Cross made ethereal by an oval-framing of light was background for a brilliant banquet room gay with bouquets in the Red Cross colors, and with flags of all nations, loaned by the embassies and legations, as their share in the celebration.

"A chief glory and pride of the American democracy," President Hoover said of the organization, "it belongs to the people themselves. It is a living embodiment of their heart and soul. It has lived and grown because it is a natural outgrowth of their spiritual impulse."

"It is the finest and most effective expression of the American heart," said Chief Justice Hughes, who presided. "It knows no partisanship. In the perfection of its cooperation, there is no blemish of distinctions by reason of race or creed or political philosophy."

Only three survivors of 50 years ago remained to share with the organization its golden jubilee.

For 17 nights he repeated the performance, not even daring to complain of his pain. Finally he could stand it no longer and collapsed. He was obliged to go to the hospital where both legs were amputated.

Gavel Changes Hands at Art Club's Past Presidents' Tea

THE Art club gave a charming past presidents' tea yesterday afternoon at the home of the retiring president, Mrs. Walter E. Hane of east Center street, for the pleasure of its former presidents, its retiring president and incoming president, Miss Philomena Gregg and for its guests. The tea closed the 1930-31 season of meetings.

Seated at a large table for 12 in the dining room were eight of the nine former presidents of the club, and Mrs. Agnes Knapp, a former member who has returned from five months in Italy and France, Mrs. Emerson Schoenlaub of Wheeling, W. Va., who has retained her membership, and who made the trip to Marion yesterday to be present for the tea. Mrs. Clinton J. Altmaier, who sails June 19 on the S. S. Doric for Europe and Mrs. H. K. Mouser, president of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs. The table was centered with a replica of an ocean liner on a glass plateau, surrounded by bouquets of red, white and blue flowers.

Mad Pursuit

(Copyright, 1931, Jessie Douglas Fox)

telling Nora about her mother. "She's wonderful, really. I wish you could know her. Takes an interest in everything and asks about everyone in the office when I get home. In the evenings we have the pleasantest time. We turn on the radio for dinner music and I tell Mama it's just as though we were having dinner in a big hotel."

"They parted at the bottom of the stairs and Nora watched her darting away in and out of the crowd."

"Now the moment could be almost no longer. For Nora could almost see Jon's face with its pale clear-cut features. He seemed to be walking beside her, even though she hurried. There was no escape. She knew now that Jon was variable and weak but the longing for him burned her until, in moments like these, she wanted to cry out with pain."

At the top of the hill she went more slowly. As she lifted her head she saw a sky of smoky orange that shone down for a moment on the black trees.

"I'll always have this," Nora thought passionately; "no one can take this away from me."

But as she walked on, the light died out of the sky and it closed in on her in dreary November bleakness. It seemed as though a long succession of dreary days had climbed the hills beside her, and she could see last stretching on ahead until at last she would be resigned.

"I can't bear it. I won't. I tell you," she thought, looking up at the dull sky.

Someone had come up beside her and, turning, she saw it was Fergus. He put his hand on her for a moment and she smiled up at him with quivering lips.

"How is it going?" he asked her.

"Awful," she said.

She was glad to see him. They were old friends now and they had a strong bond in their mutual love for Fran.

"I had a letter from Frances today," he said, "she hopes to be home for Christmas."

"Do you think she will?"

She looked up into his thin keen face as he asked him. His face too had changed, there were firmer lines about the mouth, but his eyes were still full of youthful eagerness.

"I don't know," he said thoughtfully.

"I can't bear it," Nora cried, "it makes life too sad."

"But life is sad, Nora."

She was startled. He seemed suddenly so much older and wiser; and she knew it was because he loved Fran and saw no future for them.

"But I wouldn't give it up for anything," he told her, smiling suddenly. "It's the struggle and the pain that makes the rest beautiful."

He looked into her passionate, rebellious face that seemed so young and soft under her hat brim. "You're not happy, are you, Nora?"

"I'll never be happy."

"What does it matter anyway?" I used to think one had to be happy to get anything out of life but now I know you can do very well without it. Work and struggle and hope are left."

"And love?" she thought with a pang. But she did not say it aloud.

Nora said, "I loved Jon Thayer. I thought he loved me. He's married."

Fergus knew her well enough not to offer her sympathy.

"He left her at the door. Alice came tearing down the hall."

"Take us to the park, Nora. Alice cried, Dickie piping after her. Nora bundled the children into the coats and went out, Dickie tugging at her hand, Alice skipping beside her and the dog Petie Baker leaping about.

In the park the trees were shimmering under ice, the shrubs were hooded with snow and the paths crunched under their feet. The children went mad with delight, running, falling screaming while Nora raced beside them. A tall thin man passed them and returned to pass again, his eyes on the children. Alice raced on ahead and when Nora came up to her she heard Alice talking companionably to him.

"I'm six. How old are you?" Alice asked him.

Nora saw he was a dark fellow with a plain likeable face. He glanced indifferently past Nora to Dickie, his eyes clinging hungrily to the child.

"Dickie," he urged, "come here."

The little boy stood, staring, his dark eyes under their lashes lifted just enough to look at the stranger. The man lifted the child in his arms and Dickie began to chuckle in his friendly way.

"Come children, it's time to go home," Nora said.

The lamps were lighted and cast long yellow streaks over the snow. He put Dickie down and watched him scamper away. He turned to Nora. He took off his hat, she saw his hair was turning gray.

"I'm their father," he said. "I've seen you before. I've haunted Dove street, but I've never seen Frances."

Nora looked at him, hotly defiant. She detected this David Lindsey who had deserted Frances and left his children to struggle on as best they could. Perhaps he was going to try to take them away from Frances now. Her blue eyes blazed at him.

"No, you've never seen Frances. You wouldn't."

"Where is she?" he implored, and the sudden anguish in his face made Nora look away.

"She's in a sanatorium in the mountains."

"Tell me!" His lips twisted, his eyes implored her to go on. "Is she?"

Let him have it then. Nothing that he would ever suffer could make up for the days and weeks and months that Fran had gone uncompromisingly to work; for her final defeat, for her separation from her children.

She told him of Fran's cough, how at first she had laughed about it, and finally of her going away to a sanatorium in the mountains.

"She's been there two months now," Nora ended.

"God," David said to himself, "I don't wonder that you despise me. I deserve it all." He said savagely as the children ran along in front of them. "I was mad about Frances. We ran away, you know. The children came and there were debts. I used to come home dog-tired from the day's assignment. And I began to drink. Oh, well, you know the rest? Fran has told you?"

"She told me a little."

"I lost my job and I went to New York and drifted about for a time. Then I got an assignment on another paper. I sent Fran money but the letter came back addressed Unknown. But these last months I couldn't stand it. I came here and I've been hanging about trying to catch a glimpse of Fran. Then tonight I saw you start out with the children and I knew my chance had come. Now I'm going to do something."

"If you'll give me Fran's address I'll go there at once. She may never want to see me again but she must let me help her out."

Nora wavered for a moment. What would David do, how would he help Fran if she told him her address? Poor Fran, who had said, "I refuse to die, for I have to come back to the children!"

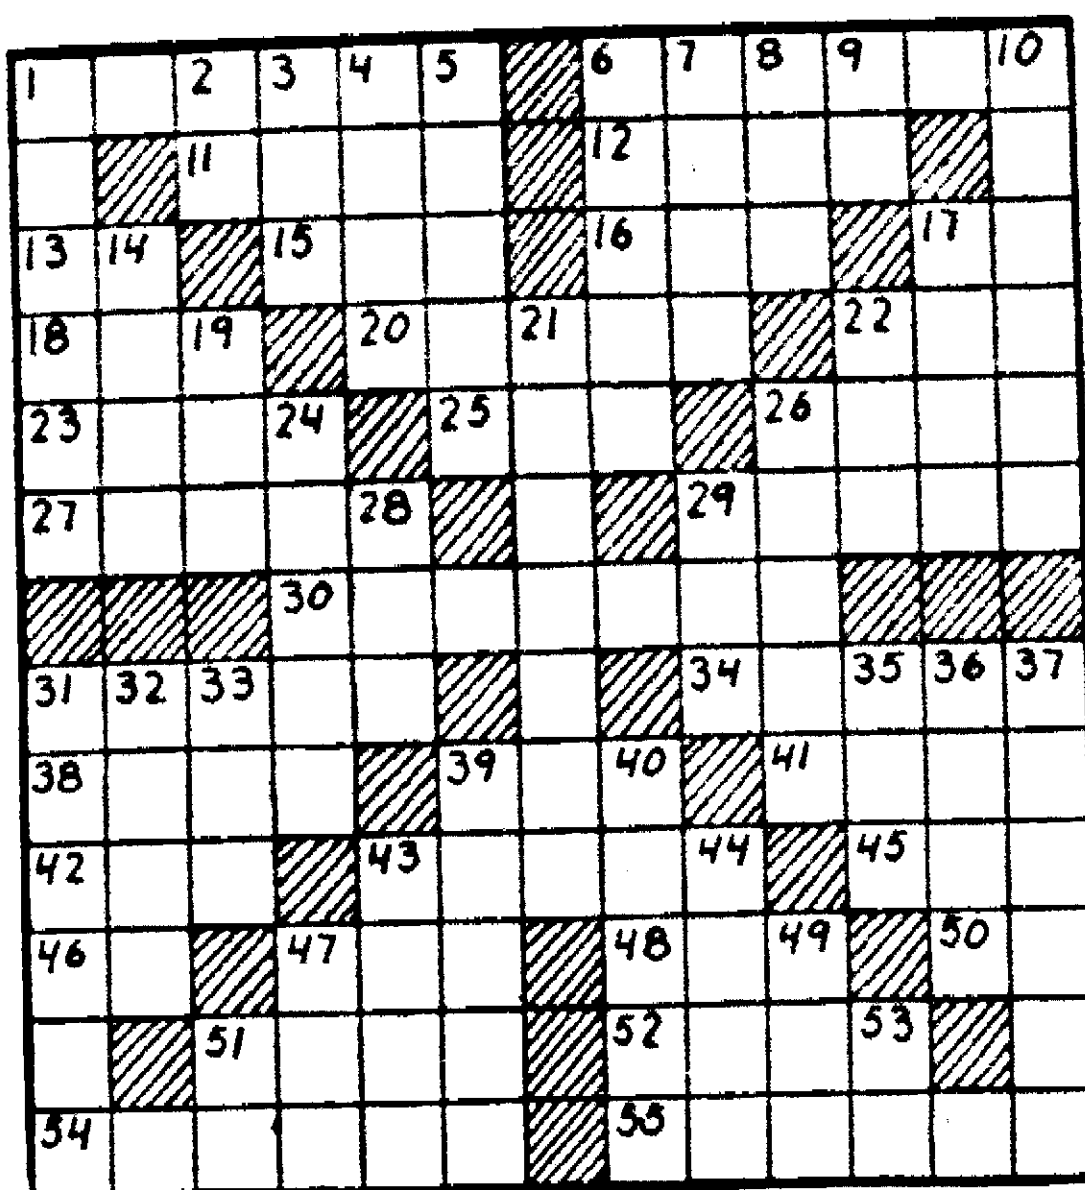

Now she looked at David as her doubt resolved itself into a troubled question.

"You'll take the children away?"

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD M. LEWIS

FRIDAY, ME AND JUBILEE listened for raindrops when we woke up this morning. But there wasn't any and I had got wasn't by one ear and pulled him out of bed and asked him if he wanted to sleep all day, but there wasn't a cloud in the sky, but there was still a puddle between the houses where his busel lands, because the sun don't get in between the houses to dry things up very good. He didn't like that very much. I wouldn't have liked it either if I had of been in his place. But he ought to cheer up and not give me such a sour look, it wasn't my fault, and I bet the fleas that were on that end of him didn't like it any better than he did. But I suppose dogs can't think of everything. If they could they would have brains like a boy. I was wondering after I got my short pants what Feeble's mother done to her for spilling her umbrella, but I suppose it wasn't any of my business. But I hope it wasn't what I think it was. Girls aren't tough like boys. When I had strained the milk and we were on our way to the pasture and had got as far as the culvert that goes under the road where Feeble's umbrella dizzied the creek, was almost up to the top of the culvert and there was the back of a dead tree laying on the bank and me and Peanut pulled it up onto the road and jumped on it and broke it up in little pieces which we threw it in and then we'd run across the road and then we'd come out on the down side, and we were so busy we weren't watching out, and she Feeble threw a piece in, and she was almost across the road to see it come out when an auto honked right behind her, and she gave a jump, and when I looked around from the auto I her all I saw of her was her feet in the air. She had stumbled on the coping and had went over head first, and when we got to her side of the road she was crawling up the bank like a drowned rat and her hat was gone and her hair was plastered all over her face and when she got up the bank her front was plastered with clay. She said, "Gee! I bet I don't look anything like I did the day my mother got me!" She wanted us to make a fire to dry her off, so when we got to the pasture we did.

A girl can't take her clothes off like a guy does to get them dry, so she just stood around and steamed but she was almost dry by the time we had to hustle to school. I told her it was a good thing she could swim, and she said when her mother found out about it she would wish she could fly. I asked her if she wanted me to go home with her from school and tell her mother it wasn't her fault. She said she didn't. Then Youniss said I might go home with her, and the Lost Bag of Tripe told her to go fall in the creek and I would. So I went home from school with her just to show them. If she was my sister I would probably go home with her every day. But I wouldn't like her so well. I stayed till cow time.

ing inside. "Now listen carefully while I tell you what to do."

"Me listen," he said.

"Put your hands up above your head, high." I told him, and he obeyed me. "When I say 'go,' turn around and walk straight into that cornfield, and along a straight line to the other end of it."

The ghost of a grin again touched the lips, and I knew he was thinking that I had forgotten how completely the corn would hide him after a few steps.

Again that unburied stare. "I shall be watching until you get to the other end, and so will the man whom I shall call as soon as you are on your way. I went on steadily. Every fourth stalk you will pull up and hold high above your head and wave it so that I can see it, then drop it and go on to the next one. If you do not do this, I shall send the man here and my husband and father after you. They are coming from my home now."

Again that unburied stare.

"You velly smart lady," he said at last, managing to retain a certain aspect of immobile dignity despite his upheld hands. "Me do anything you say, but you velly solly you no give paper."

He turned away and marched steadily to the edge of the cornfield, entered it, and carefully obeying my instructions, proceeded across it. Regularly the waving cornstalks appeared high above the others upon the straight path he was pursuing but he was less than a quarter of the way across when there was a brisk rapping at the kitchen door and Dickie's voice calling peremptorily.

"Madge, let me in! What is the matter?"

By ADELE GARRISON

The Chinese Intruder Issues Another Warning.

I seemed an eternity before any sound came from the Chinese with the face so blank and his must be suffering and the rage which I knew must be consuming him. Silently he stood looking at me as if he either had not heard my command to leave his rope ladder and go away, or did not comprehend what I meant. Almost that blank stare made me repeat my command, but I knew that he had heard me, and was very sure that he understood my meaning perfectly. In a hard school I have learned the advantage of "letting the other fellow speak first" in any controversy, and I stubbornly locked my lips and waited in a stare as determined as if not as unwinkingly as his own.

Another Warning

Finally my persistence was rewarded. The thick lips opened and from them came croaking words:

"Oh, yes, you do." I spoke slowly, distinctly, wondering how long my strength would hold out. I felt as if I must crash to the floor at any second. "You understand perfectly. But I will say it again. Go away from here at once and drop that rope and pole."

He took his hands from the rope and set the jointed pole against a tree. Then he turned toward the window from which I was speaking. The movement, whether from accident or design, brought him nearer the window, and I spoke sharper.

"Get back!"

He stopped, but he had put one hand behind his head and I guessed that he had a weapon of some kind concealed in his coat.

"I have a pistol," I told him, bringing my right hand into view. "And I know how to use it. If you come any nearer, you will be sorry."

It was several seconds before he answered me, and I wondered if I had imagined that the ghost of a sadistic grin had touched his lips. Then he said, exactly as if I had made no threat.

"Give me paper, me go."

"No," I said firmly. "Never."

"Then me stay."

"The police will be here shortly," I said.

"No." He spoke with conviction. "You no want police meddle. You no call police."

He spoke with such conviction that I felt my throat muscles contract a bit. How did he know so much or had he simply made a random guess?

When he spoke next, without waiting for my answer this time, I was sure of that ghostly grin, more terrifying than black anger. "You too plitty lady to shoot—and too plitty lady to have things happen your face. You give me paper now."

A Sample Shot

What was it he had behind him? A sudden fantastic terror shook me so that I had hard work steadying the hand which held the pistol. But I knew that I must not weaken now. He evidently did not believe either that the apparent weapon, or that I knew how to fire a gun. Just behind him, almost on a line with his body, there was the tall stump of a tree upon which Mrs. Ticer had an old iron kettle filled with glowing nasturtiums. I spoke with sudden sharpness as I might address a refractory child.

"Do you see that kettle of flowers just behind you? Watch carefully."

I pointed the tiny pistol at the kettle and fired. The noise of the shot was negligible, but the ping of the bullet against the iron of the kettle was unmistakable. With a little pean of thankfulness for the hours of practice which had made me a good marksman, I shifted

MEAT INSPECTORS WORK IN COUNTY

State Men Order Three Butchers To Use Slaughter Houses.

Three Marion butchers whose practice has been to butcher on rural farms where the animals were bought were ordered to do their future butchering at slaughter houses when two officials of the state department of health visited Marion early this week to conduct an investigation with Dr. J. T. Gruber, city and county inspector of milk and food.

The unsanitary method of handling meats butchered on farms attracted the attention of health authorities, who favor a "community slaughter house" where all butchering in the county could be done at a minimum charge to the butcher. The plan calls for inspection of meat by health authorities at the slaughter house, protecting the public against the use of inferior qualities of meat and against unsanitary handling.

The county slaughter house plan has been successfully worked out in various sections of the state, according to Jacob Leopold and William Mitchell, state health department inspectors who were here with Dr. Gruber to investigate the practices of butchers. Both the inspectors recommended such a slaughter house for Marion county where all meats sold to the public would have to be butchered.

FRIENDLY INDIANS ARE Y GROUP

This happy group of youngsters is the Friendly Indians club of the Marion Y. M. C. A., one of the 127 clubs within the Y. Within the group shown above are various tribes, whose warriors study Indian lore, and at the same time learn much about nature, through hikes and camping expeditions. Saturday morning pow-wows are held before the boys go on the gymnasium floor for games and contests in which the spirit of fair play and the ability to be good losers are learned. The Indians' activities are religious, educational and recreational. The club is limited to boys from 9 to 12 years of age. To finance this club and 126 other organizations for a 12-month period, the Y. M. C. A. is asking $18,900 this year, as compared with its budget of $22,500 last year.

Flashes of Life

By The Associated Press.

LONDON—Dame Madge Kendal, 72, died when she was a lipstick. She told the Actors' Church union she had never used one, even on the stage. "Makeup has been the ruin of England," she added. She told of taking a lipstick away from a girl she encountered on the street and having a fight with her which ended in kisses.

PHILADELPHIA—There seems to be plenty of room in space. Sir James Hopwood Jeans, British astronomer, illustrated the point at a meeting of scientists, saying: "Three particles of dust released in this room would make the room much more crowded with dust than space is with the stars."

WASHINGTON CROSSING, PA.—As a stunt modern military has crossed the Delaware where Washington did. New pontoon boats did it in jig time with the aid of outboard motors.

SEATTLE—Jails seem to be a bad thing at Point Hope, Alaska. Two Eskimos were so warm and well fed in the lone house that they talked a lot when they got out. Then native after native broke laws on purpose. A large new jail has been sent north from Seattle as a result.

LOS ANGELES—Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., at last tally, had a lot of jack, to wit, $70 in the bank and $50 in his pocket. Such was the total of his personal fortune, he testified in proceedings against him to collect a judgment obtained in business litigation.

WARNING ISSUED TO FARMERS OF STATE

Inferior Agricultural Seeds Are on Market, Department Head Says.

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., May 22—Warning to farmers that an unusually large amount of low grade agricultural seeds are being sold in Ohio this year, has been issued by W. W. Ellenwood, of the division of plant industry of the state department of agriculture.

Much of this seed, Ellenwood said, is being delivered on orders, by truck, from adjoining states to escape the Ohio law. A large quantity, he said, is being sold by "unscrupulous mail order seed houses" which advertise especially low prices on sales direct to the consumer.

"In most cases," says Ellenwood, "the dealers have complied with the law as to labeling, purity and germination. Many farmers, however, consider only price in buying and pay no attention to analysis tags. This tag is important, and farmers should play safe, by buying seed only from dealers they know to be reliable."

GAME IMPORTED

Cooms and Kansas Rabbits Distributed Throughout Ohio

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., May 22—Ohio sportsmen are watching with interest an experiment undertaken by the Ohio department of agriculture, through the conservation council.

Two thousand Kansas cotton-tail rabbits have been purchased and distributed throughout the state. These rabbits are similar to the cotton-tail rabbit common in Ohio, and it is hoped that through the new supply, new blood may be injected into those native to the state.

As an additional experiment, 200 coons were purchased from breeders and set free in a number of counties of the state.

This experiment, to judge from reports reaching the council, has been a success.

Real Scare

SOMETHING of the sensations experienced by those selected to be put "on the spot" were given the mother-in-law of a local attorney several days ago when a quietly burning bonfire which she had built in an alley, suddenly became a roaring bombardment.

The mother-in-law was assisting in cleaning house and had taken a basket into a pantry into which she tossed anything which did not have the appearance of value. She took up a harmless looking box and hearing no sound when she shook it, concluded it was empty and threw it into the basket.

When the basket was filled she took it to the alley and threw the contents on a bonfire. Scarcely had she turned to go into the house when the air was split by an explosion. Struggling to recover her equilibrium, she turned just as another shot rang forth, then another and another. By this time, deciding discretion was the better part of valor, she had reached the safety of the house, while neighbors started estimating the casualties.

The mystery of the bombardment was cleared later in the day when the son-in-law remembered that a box of cannon firecrackers which had been overlooked on the previous Fourth of July, had been tossed on a shelf in the pantry.

Snow in May

FORTY-EIGHT years ago yesterday Marion and vicinity was covered with nearly an inch of snow. The oddity was recalled this morning by W. C. Luellen, 71, of east Mark street.

Mr. Luellen recalled that he was married in 1882 and that in the spring of '83 he went to work on a farm east of Waldo. That year, on his father's birthday, May 21, there was more than half an inch of snow on the ground.

Pets Valued

YOU just know "Dandie" leads a dog's life. His master and mistress, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Van Horn of Elk avenue are so interested in their pet fox terrier they are anxious that his many friends know that he is recovering from the result of a serious accident while he was on a trip to Cleveland.

"Dandie," being an adventurous little mite, ventured too far into the street one day on his trip and an automobile struck him, injuring his left hind leg. Now he is reported "resting nicely" with the injured leg in a cast.

Dogs have a way of their own of making their owners their slaves, but kittens often come in for a share of attention, too.

Little Miss Hope Shackelford, a chubby little girl not more than 3-years-old who makes her home above the Salvation Army headquarters on north State street, and who gives her other names as Roma Rachel, has a pet blue kitten not much past the eye-opening stage of growth.

Her cheery "hello" to passers-by attract them to her and the armful of kitten which she holds as precious. Quite naturally their first questions are of the kitten's name. Proudly she holds it aloft for a more close inspection by her friends and says that the name is "Roma." Such a romantic name for a little alley kitten, but "Roma" is beloved in the eyes of the little brown-haired mistress.

Somewhere in every man's make-up there is probably a yellow streak; a man of good character can successfully hold it under

Ye Old Tyme Singing School Makes Welkin Ring with Ye Old Tyme Songs

Ye olde tunes held sway in Ye Olde Tyme Singing school held last night at Central Junior High school under the auspices of the Mother Singers of the South Side Community club. The auditorium was filled with patrons who attended to hear the old songs sung once again, and with many friends of Mrs. Carmen Blow Sage of Cincinnati, formerly of Marion, who sang a duet and encores with Mrs. Eugene Moore. Approximate reports last night were that the Singers cleared nearly $100 on their program.

A Tonic for Man or Woman

Dowler as music master conducted the school, first having his pupils go through a thorough review of the scales and then giving them a try-out in mental composition, one of his own ideas.

The Singers were in costume of the '80s and '90s, festive creations of stiff silks and laces and a variety of hats from wide beavers to little straw bonnets decorated with rigid plumes.

The comedy, aside from the impromptu laughs in the course of conducting the singing school were carried by J. P. Neidhart and Harry I. Albrecht. Albrecht sang a solo, in a range in every key in the scale while the chorus hummed "All Through the Night" and Neidhart entertained with three recitations, one an encore. A. A. Van Atta did a stutter practice of the scale. Sam Oranhood and George Wingett gave a harmonica and jewarshar duet.

The school sang two rounds.

"Scotland's Burning" and "Three Blind Mice" in addition to "Flow Gently Sweet Afton," "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," "Santa Lucia," and the closing song, Wagner's "Pillgrims' Chorus."

Two quartets, composed of W. C. Boyd, Carl Stillings, J. E. Lettler, Mr. Albrecht, Carl Miller, E. H. Cowan and James Walker, sang old songs, and several "barbershop quartet" numbers. The men and Eugene Moore assisted the Singers in the chorus numbers.

Mrs. Sage and Mrs. Moore sang "I Passed by Your Window," arranged by Lucas, and for encores, "Juanita" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms." Mrs. Moore directed the Mother Singers in one of their numbers for which they were applauded for an encore, and sang "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes." Mrs. Moore and the accompanist, Mrs. Helen Cleveland, were presented corsages of old-fashioned flowers.

Awards were presented the ticket-selling team captained by Mrs. Kenneth Sweeney and to Mrs. Moore for having sold the most tickets.

OHIO STATE TO BID FOR BIG TEN TRACK CROWN AT ILLINOIS

Buckeye Athletes Confident of Putting Up Close Battle for Title.

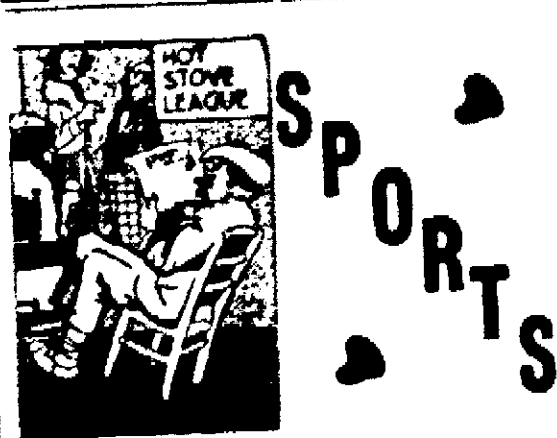

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., May 22.—A strong bid for the 1931 western conference track and field championship will be made by Ohio State university at Evanston, Ill., today and tomorrow.

The Buckeyes believe they have an edge on their two chief opponents, Michigan and Wisconsin, because during the past two weeks the Ohio stars have had but a light training program while the two western foes have engaged in strenuous dual meets. Ohio should go into the Big Ten track battle fresher than the chief opposition.

Twenty-two Buckeye athletes made the trip to Evanston. Ohio does not have one among the eight individual champions who will participate in the meet, but they do have a possible champ in the fleet Jack Keller of Columbus, ace of hurdlers, who has been dashing off the 120 yards in close to the world's record time.

Other possible point winners for the Buckeyes include Ralston Russell of Pomeroy, who tied for the high jump title in a recent meet at Cleveland, who placed in the broad jump in the 1930 championships; Rupert Beetham of Cadiz, a strong miler in the distance runs and Beetham and William Floor of Barnesboro, Pa., in the half mile.

Other Ohio men who made the trip to Evanston are Morris Teitelbaum of Brooklyn, N. Y., 440; Fred Strother of Columbus, mile relay; Lloyd Wise of Lorain, 440; Jesse Fackes of Lorain, 100 and 200 yard dashes; John Hall of Mansfield, shot and discus; John Black of Lima, high and low hurdles; Mortimer Hochman of Brooklyn, N. Y., high jump; Richard Grace of Columbus, hammer throw; Clyde Berry of Oakland, Calif., hammer throw; Clark Mantz of Audubon, Ia., pole vault; Robert Brown of Columbus, half miler; Homer White of Canton, two mile run; Joseph Schmid of Columbus, 220 low hurdles; Homer Smith of Birmingham, Ala., and Sam Goldstein of Brooklyn, N. Y., javelin.

WITH the 1931 recreation ball season getting well under way it is interesting to note what, if any, effect the use of gloves by all the players is having on the game here. In former years the catcher and first basemen were the only players allowed to use gloves but a newly adopted rule gives the privilege to all members of a team.

Apparently there is still a wide divergence of opinion concerning the new rule. Some insist it is accomplishing nothing except to move some of the color from the game which existed before its adoption, others are just as emphatic in saying it is aiding the game. Neither will yield an inch, so there you are.

It is the opinion of this writer after having watched a number of games that infield play is considerably speeded up and there are fewer errors than in past years although there are no figures available to back up this statement. As to detracting color from the game, any one who has seen some of the lightning plays and brilliant pickups of hard-hit infield ground balls will probably testify that if that is detracting color from the game, they had better put gloves on both hands. More three and four hit games are being turned in but they certainly are not less interesting to watch.

After experiencing a long period of years in which an occasional victory was something to get excited about Columbus has finally gotten what looks like a winning baseball team. At least it is winning at the present time. How long it will continue is another story.

For the first time in several years the Red Birds are reposing in the highest place in the league, this post having come as the result of the 8-6 victory over Louisville yesterday.

Followers of Columbus are probably not so much interested in the game as they were in the game of the 8-6 victory over Louisville yesterday.

THE results of the games yesterday in the Industrial league served to prove just one fact. There is no such thing as a "sure thing" in Major league baseball. Two of the teams that were almost prohibitive favorites to come through with fairly easy victories were defeated and another that might reasonably have been expected to win after a tough game was also walloped. Only one of the teams picked to win came through with a victory and even this team was not particularly impressive in winning.

The two major upsets yesterday were handed out by the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad and the Ohio Fuel Gas Company. The other mild upset was scored by the C. D. & M. The only game to come out as predicted was the Huber-Fairfield struggle. The C. & O. defeated the Silk Mills 5 to 4, the Gas company put the skids under last year's city champion Erie Roundhouse team 7-2 and the C. D. & M. plastered a 6-2 shellacking on the Steam Shovel. The Huber nine beat Fairfield 3 to 1.

Applegate Wins Third
Hap Applegate, hurling for the C. D. & M., climaxed his iron man act for the week by hurling the Electricians to an easy victory over the Shovel nine, one of the supposedly stronger teams of the league.

LA BARBA FAVORED TO LIFT FEATHERWEIGHT TITLE IN 10-ROUNDER

Battalino on Short End of 8-5 Betting Odds in Championship Bout.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, May 22.—Christopher (Bat) Battalino of Hartford, Conn., defends his world's featherweight championship against Fidel LaBarba in a 15-round bout in Madison square garden tonight. The betting fraternity quotes 8 to 5 that he loses.

For some time after he won the 126-pound title from Andre Routs of France, Battalino was labelled a "cheese champion" by most fight observers. He dropped one non-title fight after another, some of them to second-raters. But last December he surprised the boys by handling Kid Chocolate, then hailed as the uncrowned featherweight king, a decisive beating in a titular battle.

Even this showing, however, has not sufficed to make him as much as an even choice against the Cagney LaBarba who some years ago resigned a world's flyweight crown in favor of some intensive studying at Stanford. LaBarba has grown some 13 pounds since then but he still is the same clever boxer and experienced ring general. In addition he boasts a left hook that compares favorably with any in the game.

ATHLETICS COMPLETE ROAD TOUR WITH 13 STRAIGHT VICTORIES

Cleveland Still in Slump. Losing Latest Start to Yanks 7 to 6.

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
"The triumph of the east" is the only possible title for the story of the first round of intersectional play in the two major baseball leagues. Only one eastern club failed to reach at least a .500 average in its games against the west in the round which wound up yesterday with three more eastern victories out of four American league games and a complete washout for the National league.

The Philadelphia Athletics must come first in recounting the tale of eastern triumphs. The A's made a clean sweep of their eleven games in the west, climbing to the top of the American league. Altogether they have won 13 successive games, pounding the Detroit Tigers for a final triumph yesterday, 12 to 5. Four Detroit pitchers yielded 18 hits, including Al Simmons' eighth homer of the year, Mickey Cochrane's sixth and one for Eric McNair.

Washington Climbs
Washington also did some important climbing in its western tour, downing the Chicago White Sox 4-2 yesterday to make it nine victories in eleven games. Heinie Manush drove in the four Senator runs. The New York Yankees, holding second place just ahead of Washington, won seven and lost two. They completed the route of Cleveland yesterday taking a 7-6 decision after Babe Ruth's fifth homer of the season had given them a good start. Cleveland failed to win one of its eleven games against eastern clubs and yesterday's defeat was the twelfth straight.

Rip Collins of St. Louis cost the Boston Red Sox a chance to gain an even break in their 12 games in the west. Collins held the Sox to four hits to take a 2 to 1 decision. Boston finished ahead of all the western clubs with five games won and seven lost. Detroit, which split with the Yankees and took a series from Boston, led the westerners with eight defeats. St. Louis won three games and lost six while Chicago scored three victories to seven defeats. Each of them took a series from Boston, the easterners winning all other series.

Giants Lead National
In the National league, the count for 32 intersectional games was 20-12 in favor of the east with the New York Giants in the lead. The Giants lost a single game to Pittsburgh but won every other series to finish with six victories and two defeats. Boston lost three while Brooklyn, despite some wobbly playing, broke even in its eight games.

Pittsburgh, at a disadvantage playing away from home, equalled the Robins' record. The St. Louis Cardinals managed to hold the league lead by a few percentage points as they won two games and lost four. Cincinnati's last place Reds did better than expected, turning in four victories against six defeats. The Chicago Cubs went into an unaccountable slump, winning only two games out of eight.

New Barrier at Local Race Track

The above photograph shows a Phillips starting barrier of the type which will be used in the coming Short Ship races on Fairground track which start on June 9 and continue four days. The barrier system of starting the horses is new in Ohio Short Ship racing, having been introduced for a trial this summer by Steve Phillips of Xenia, an official starter of the circuit. A barrier has already been installed at the local track for the first Short Ship meeting here.

SPORTSMAN'S Hall of Fame

EVERY once in awhile there is found some individual who likes to perform some kind of an iron man act. The latest addition to this rather short list is Hap Applegate, of Trinity Baptist and C. D. & M. recreation ball teams. So far this week Hap has hurled three straight wins, one on Tuesday, one on Wednesday and the latest yesterday.

On Tuesday Hap hurled a four hits game for Trinity against Lee Street. The following day he was even stungier with his hits, giving John Clark's Epworth No. 1 team but three hits and yesterday, hurling for the C. D. & M. of the Industrial league he gave the Steam Shovel but a trio of safeties.

In former years Hap has been considered a pitcher who was fairly good but who would never burn up the city leagues. This supposition may be right but it won't be unless he loses his form pretty quick. Three wins in three days are not being turned in all the time. About one more performance like that and he can quit for the season as far as victories are concerned and still be ahead of most of the city hurlers.

ONE GAME HERE

Morrill Only Local Team Playing in Marion This Week-end.

Only one baseball game is scheduled for the local parks during this week-end. The Morrill team of the Rural Community league, which uses Lincoln park as its home diamond will meet Hilliards of Columbus Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

The Marion team of the Rural Community league will make its first out-of-town sally of the season, journeying to Sunbury for an engagement with the team of that place.

The Marion Steam Shovel entry of the Central Ohio baseball league will also play out of town this week. The Diggers will meet Mt. Victory Saturday afternoon on the Mt. Victory diamond.

CARPENTER IS SIGNED TO WRESTLE BOZIN NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

Another "Anything Goes" Brawl in Prospect for Local Mat Fans.

One-Punch Carpenter, who is most of the mat boys' buffalo will be called upon to perform another task of roughness in a Steam Shovel gym next Monday night.

Carpenter, the Lancasterer who is somewhat of an ar with the dukes, will meet Bozins, the rough Greek, in a two-hour time-limit match as main go of the program. Promoters are after someone to give Carpenter a good beating in a grudge fight last Monday night he knocked out Dug McCell. The match was arranged after the wrestlers became a mental after Carpenter was qualified by Referee Kauffman. Bozins is a tough matman. Last appearance here was against Jim Kilonis, who he pinned out difficulty. Previous to time he defeated the famous house battler, Clyde Robinson.

CUP PLAY EVEN

U. S. and Canada Split in First Round.

By The Associated Press
MONTREAL, Que., May 22.—Canada and the United States entered the second day of their cup tennis contest today all with one victory apiece.

The doubles, only event of the program, were to pit the American combination of F. Shields and Sidney B. Wood against Dr. Jack Wright and Marcel Rainville of Montreal. Shields sent the United States forces off to a flying start in opening singles match yesterday when he whipped Wright straight sets, 8-6, 6-2, 6-2, but little French Canadian, Rainville evened the count by conquering Wood in a five-set duel, 4-6, 3-6, 6-2, to register the victory any Canadian ever scored over the United States Davis cup competition. Canada been playing cup tennis since

SHIRT HEADQUARTERS

"WHAT IS THIS THING CALLED SANFORIZING?"
WE'VE rewritten the popular tune. "Sanforizing" is Arrow's marvelous new mechanical process. It not only adds new lustre to fine Arrow fabrics, but makes it possible for you to wear shirts that fit the day you buy them and fit as well after the 5th or 50th laundering. Cuffs and shirt tails don't creep and climb. Collars never strangle. The shirts fit and fit, and we guarantee them to keep on fitting, or your money back. You'll set yourself new standards of shirt value, looks and comfort, especially in Trump, in white and colors at $1.95.

WHY A COMMUNITY FUND?

1. It saves the time of the volunteer campaign workers. Heretofore many of the same people were always enlisted in all the different campaigns.
2. It minimizes duplication. The work of the various agencies participating in the community fund is coordinated. This means more efficient work at less cost.
3. It develops a community pride and community conscience.
4. It fosters team play and cooperation.
5. It spreads out the support over the entire community.

CHAPLAIN HITS DEATH PENALTY

Rev. Wall Tells Kiwanians Capital Punishment is Failure.

If capital punishment was established and is being practiced with the thought of reducing the taking of human life, then it has failed utterly in its purpose. Rev. K. E. Wall, chaplain of the Ohio penitentiary told the Kiwanians yesterday.

Not only has it failed, the speaker said, but in states where it has been abolished, the number of homicide cases have actually decreased. He pointed out as proof of this statement that in states where capital punishment is not practiced the number of murders are 3.6 per cent per one hundred thousand persons, while in states where it continues to be practiced the number is 8.3 per cent per one hundred thousand persons.

Survival of Past
Capital punishment, Rev. Wall declared, is a savage survival of the past and does not accomplish its purpose for the reason that the greater number of murders are committed in the heat of passion and with no thought of the punishment to follow.

He also termed capital punishment as the poor man's punishment. "There is no use of us fooling ourselves," he declared, "there are two sets of laws in this country—one for the poor man and the other for the rich. Who ever heard of a rich, powerful man going to the chair or to the gallows?" he demanded.

That life imprisonment was a greater punishment to the offender than capital punishment, was the opinion of the speaker. To place a man behind the high stone walls knowing that he will for the remainder of his life be deprived of the sound of the voice of his children or of his wife and that he must spend the days at hard labor with no reward, is by far the greater punishment he declared, and his children will not go down through the years with the stigma of their father's execution on their lives.

Offences Reduced
The number of offences punishable by death was at one time 200. It was then reduced to 20 and now to one, Rev. Wall pointed out. He told of the hanging of a boy of 12 in London a hundred years ago for the theft of six shillings and of the hanging of a girl of nine for being a witch.

He also told of the fight waged in the House of Lords in England when a bill to abolish capital punishment for an offense against property, was passed, he compared it with the fight now being waged by those opposed to the abolishing of the death sentence, in this country.

Dr. F. J. Hunter of the club committee on the fresh air camp, asked members of the club to furnish him with names of any children who in the opinion of the members should attend the camp this summer.

DIGNITY DROPPED AS SENIORS ENTERTAIN

Harding High Last Year Students Stage Annual Stunt Day Program.

Senior class dignity was dropped this morning at Harding High school when the six senior home rooms vied to entertain the sophomores and juniors in one last burst of madness before the solemn dignity of caps and gowns and graduation.

Stunt day is an annual affair with the seniors of the high school. This morning the half-hour program given by the graduates in west hall for the juniors, was repeated in the east hall for the benefit of the more timid sophomores.

The six home rooms taught by Miss Lucile Foreman, Miss Edith Isabel Freer, D. N. Bohyer, and Russell Dunlap, Bohyer's room, Brown, Miss Helen Jacoby, Miss Schott and Miss Amanda Haber, gave a pantomime drama, "Willie of the Alley" and Miss Jacoby's groups gave a take-off on American literature classes with the scholars dressed in kid clothes. Indian drama a la Shakespeare was given by Miss Foreman's class and Miss Brown's room entertained with a womanless wedding in which the women had leading parts. Dunlap's room chided the senior class in a take-off on the senior class breakfast and west hall assembly of seniors gave a picturization of the last days of school.

Catholic Women are Hostesses at Social in Hall

MEMBERS of the Federation of Catholic Women entertained with a card party last evening in the Knights of Columbus hall. Spring flowers provided an attractive setting for the 20 tables arranged for cards and a basket of spring blooms centered the table from which a buffet luncheon was served later in the evening. The table, at which Mrs. John A. Schroeter, president of the federation, and Mrs. A. L. Bantz, social chairman, presided, was lighted with yellow tapers.

Awards for high scores were won by Miss Mary B. Pleasant and Miss Edna Earl McGeehee and Miss Alice Jo Sampson received the door award. The committee in charge of arrangements for the affair included Mrs. Schroeter, Mrs. Bantz, Mrs. Herman Feldner, Mrs. A. F. McAndrew, Mrs. Michael Moran, Mrs. J. P. McAndrew, Mrs. Harry Hessberger, Mrs. Henry Vochem, Mrs. Albert Reidenbaugh, Mrs. William Minshall, Mrs. James O'Day, Mrs. H. C. Neyhart, Mrs. D. W. Disbennett, Mrs. J. K. Schwingler, Mrs. Robert Ramroth and Mrs. Ellen Coulter.

Launch Fund Drive in Marion Factories Today

Division, Headed by A. W. Newby, Starts Solicitations in Plants; Men's and Women's Groups Meet to Assign Territories.

Members of the Community got under way this morning when the employees division of A. W. Newby, in charge of the drive into Marion in large business concerns solicited subscriptions from managers in this division have captains in each industry. Captains are: Turner, F. D. Glessner, D. A. Howard, George Robert LaMarche, Eugene L. Bantz and H. E. Wilson.

Preparations for work to be made at a meeting of the division at the Marion night in which workers are urged to appeal to employees for their share of the last year's subscriptions over the last year's.

Employees will be urged to pay their subscriptions.

Support of the employees division will be given Monday noon report luncheon in the appeal which begins Monday.

Members of the men's and women's division held separate meetings all day today at the station club, assigning their territories to various team captains and laying last minute plans for the drive in the business and industrial areas.

Members were in charge of Rev. J. Wood, head of the men's division, and Mrs. H. K. Mouser, head of the women's division.

Refers to Need. Speaking to his workers, Rev. J. Wood said: "While the amount of the year's budget is more than last year, it is no more than was raised two years ago, and the need this year is much greater."

Rev. J. Wood reminded his men that the same size and number of subscriptions made last year will fund this year's campaign $10,000 short. "Subscriptions must be larger this year to keep Marion from being the only city to fail in her drive for welfare and character work," he said.

Mrs. H. K. Mouser predicted today that the women's division will report its share of the additional amount needed to achieve the goal of $73,397 this year. "With the cooperation we will receive from the prospects and workers I am sure a pep contest held by the classes. Marshmallows and winners were toasted and various stunts enjoyed around the huge fire.

DELEGATIONS PLAN DEDICATION VIST

K. of P. Band from Logan County and Ohio Sons of Vets To Be Here.

Arrangements for two more delegations, one a band, to visit Marion on the day of the dedication of Harding memorial June 16, are under way. Hoke Donithen, executive committee chairman of the Memorial association said today.

John S. Pettitt, member of the house of representatives from Logan county, has expressed his willingness to arrange for the Logan county Knights of Pythias band to play here on the day of the dedication. Word that this band will attend the dedication was received through Charles L. Justice, presiding judge of the third district court of appeals, of Lima.

The Ohio department of the Sons of Union Veterans will adjourn its annual meeting in Columbus June 16 to permit its members to attend the dedication, according to word received by Donithen from W. C. Thobaben, department commander.

UNIQUE AIRPORT TRUCK BUILT AT PROSPECT

Branching into the field of aviation the Prospect Fire Engine Co. has constructed the first combined airplane tow car, ambulance and fire truck ever placed on the market in the United States. The machine, above, is towing a wrecked plane at the Detroit airport. The machine, built in Prospect, was sold to the Detroit port and was used at the airport near Dayton where the army maneuvers were held.

Those who were entertained at the Lawrence Lingrel home Sunday were Mrs. Ross Knoder of Hartford City, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Norris Konkin of Columbus, Mrs. Earl Watts and daughters Waneta,

Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Smith and family of Michigan are visiting at the Charley Smith home.

Mrs. Lillie and Mrs. Andrew Middleworth, Mrs. H. W. Wygle and Miss Lamont Ballinger were Kenton shoppers Friday.

Combined Plane Tow Car, Fire Truck, Ambulance in one Machine

A new development in the field of aviation and one which is attracting much attention from aviation men is the combination fire, ambulance and wrecker truck, a product of the Prospect Fire Engine Co., at Prospect. It is said to be the only machine of its kind built in the United States.

The truck, designed by their own engineers and built in the Prospect plant, is the result of a request by the Detroit Airport for an all around service truck, according to H. E. Thomas, president of the company, but it was built with the belief in an increasing demand for such a truck with the rapid development of commercial aviation.

Used at Maneuvers
The truck was delivered to the Detroit airport several months ago and so satisfactory was its service, it was borrowed from the airport for use at Fairfield airport, near Dayton, during the army air corps maneuvers. It was taken back to Detroit Wednesday.

Because of its frequent use on soft ground, the truck will be equipped with dual wheels in both front and rear. The body is of squad type with removable seats running the entire length. The bottom of the car is covered with a rubber matting while the reverse side is upholstered and by the means of levers can be raised and turned over for ambulance use, accommodating five or six injured persons.

A 16-foot crane is concealed beneath the floor which is capable of hoisting or a direct pull of from two to five tons. By means of a lever the crane is elevated under its own power to an upright position and by the release of the same lever, it descends under its own power to its position under the floor.

Has Fire Equipment
The truck also carries the miscellaneous fire equipment and ambulance and first aid equipment required by the United States department of commerce, which governs all requirements of airplanes and airport equipment.

Included in the fighting equipment is a 10-gallon tank of dry gas, a new fire fighting material made from bicarbonate of soda and which is thrown on the blaze in dry form. Carbon dioxide gas liberated as the bicarbonate of soda is decomposed by the heat, extinguishes the flames.

For more than 25 years the Prospect company has been building fire trucks and has established a reputation for high-class equipment among fire officials throughout this section of the country. Most of the apparatus made by the company is smaller than in use here and is intended primarily for smaller communities. The company also manufactures all of the containers used by manufacturers of dry-gas.
